Governor Sam Brownback appoints Rose Hill Police Chief Robert Sage to the Kansas Commission on Peace Officers' Standards and Training.

Kansas Governor Sam Brownback has appointed Rose Hill Police Chief Robert Sage to the Kansas Commission on Peace Officers' Standards and Training (KSCPOST). Sage was appointed on February 26, 2013 to fill a vacancy left when Eastborough Police Chief Daniel Bardezban resigned in January of 2013.

Chief Sage has been in law enforcement for 23 years with the past 11 years serving as the Chief of Police for the Rose Hill Police Department. He is a graduate of the 235th session of the FBI National Academy, earned an Associate Degree through Butler Community College and is currently attending Central Christian College where he is studying Criminal Justice. In 2008 he served as the president for the Kansas Association of Chiefs of Police and is currently serving as the association's treasurer. In addition, he serves on the Advisory Policy Board for the FBI regarding the Criminal Justice Information System (KCJIS).

The Kansas Commission on Peace Officers' Standards and Training is committed to providing the citizens of Kansas with qualified, trained, ethical, competent, and professional peace officers. It is also dedicated to adopting and enforcing professional standards for certification of peace officers to promote public safety and preserve public trust and confidence.
